

Extra Credit Quiz

(This has nothing directly to do with E&I)

True or False?

Topic: Transplants

1 - "I heard about this guy who went to a party, and woke up the next morning in a bathtub full of ice. His kidneys were stolen for sale on the black market!"

2 - "Rich and famous people get moved to the top of the waiting list, while 'regular' people have to wait a long time for a transplant."

3 - "If I'm in an accident and the hospital knows I want to be a donor, the doctors won't try to save my life!"

4 - "My religion does not approve of donation."

5 - "I don't want my family to have to pay if I want to donate my organs."

6 - "If I donate, I would worry that the recipient and/or the recipient's family would discover my identity and cause more grief for my family."

7 - "I have a history of medical illness. You would not want my organs or tissues."

8 - "I am not the right age for donation."

9 - "I heard that they take everything, even if I only want to donate my eyes."

10 - "Organ and tissue donation means

my body will be mutilated and treated badly."

Topics: Misc

Claim: Colleges and universities have regulations specifying how long students must wait in the classroom before leaving if the instructor fails to appear, and these wait times vary depending upon the academic rank of the instructor.

Legend: A student dresses as a referee and spreads birdseed on the school football field every day during the summer. At the school's first home game that fall, the field becomes inundated with birds as soon as the referees step onto the field.

Claim: Buddy Ebsen was slated to play the Tin Woodman in the 1939 film version of The Wizard of Oz, but he had to be replaced after the aluminum makeup used with his costume made him gravely ill.

Claim: At age 37 Jack Nicholson discovered that the woman he'd always thought his sister was actually his mother.

Claim: Mr. Ed, the talking equine of television fame, was a horse.

Claim: The modern image of Santa Claus in a red-and-white suit is derived from advertising illustrations created for The Coca-Cola Company.

