

Heart Monitor

The information below is from a poster presented by Lucy Yan, a BU student at the ERC annual site visit, June 2011.

- The Acoustic Heart Monitor lab, designed by fellow BU undergrad Pattaya Hongsmatip, is one of the most popular labs amongst students. In this lab students learn the functions of Op Amps and build a speaker/microphone circuit (see below) to hear the excited flutter of their own heart beats.

